

IN MEMORY OF
TIMOTHY R. and MAGGIE BORDERS HOWELL

Timothy Randall Howell, born September 21, 1890, was the son of Daniel and Mary Lizzie Oates Howell and grandson of Solomon and Martha Roberts Howell.

Maggie Lee Borders, born May 5, 1892, was the daughter of George and Alice Webber Borders and granddaughter of Simpson and Martha Roberts. Rev. B. F. Roberts united Timothy Randall and Maggie Lee in holy matrimony on August 25, 1908, at the bride's home.

To this union fourteen children (ten sons and four daughters) were born: Harry Lee, mechanic; James B., barber; George Daniel, textile laborer; Timothy Randall, Jr.; William Brodus, teacher/principal; Gladus Odell, Veterinarian; Paul Roger Allen, Carolina Freight Industry dock-worker; Alpheus Booker, teacher/driver education instructor; Max Depriest, teacher/Insurance Agent; Henry Craig; Beatrice, teacher; Florence, teacher; Thelma, Owner and Administrator of Stony Point Home Care; and Winnie Shirley, teacher. Thirty grandchildren, sixty great-grandchildren, and forty-one great-great-grandchildren are descendants.

Timothy and Maggie were active members of Washington Baptist Church where they served in many positions. "Tim" was a superintendent of Sunday School, deacon, and church clerk. He was also a school teacher. "Mag" was a deaconess, Missionary leader, Sunday School teacher, and "Mother of the Year" in 1964.

They were landowners and farmers. He was a blacksmith and a burner of coal. The road leading to the home site is named "Charcoal Road" in recognition of his skills. Timothy and Maggie once owned some of the land that is now Woodbridge Development.

Surviving children: Brodus (Lillian), Booker (Helen), Max (Martha), Winnie (Glenn).
